

Senate Has Own P.O. Reform Idea

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, forging a postal reorganization bill in step-by-step, night-by-night debate, has made sure strict pornography curbs will be part of any reform package.

And, in a 48-41 vote Monday night, it resisted a strong bid to toss out the bill written by its own Post Office Committee in favor of a version already passed by the House.

The anti-pornography measure, identical to language in the House bill, was introduced by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican Senate leaders and carried overwhelmingly, 83-2.

Earlier by rejecting an amendment offered by Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., to accept the House bill, the Senate made inevitable a series of votes on specific provisions of the massive and historic postal reorganization act. The rejection also set the stage for a possible donnybrook over a bid to ban attempts at setting up a union shop among the 750,000 postal employees.

As they stand, both versions would create a nonpartisan postal commission and a rate-setting board which would be between them run the mails, negotiate with employees and set postage rates.

Mail workers would get an 8 per cent pay hike under both bills as part of a settlement made by the postal unions and the government last April following the postal service's first strike.

The act now under consideration would allow workers to bargain collectively for wages, working conditions and benefits—including, in the Senate version, the union shop. But it would bar strikes.

Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., is seeking passage of a so-called right-to-work amendment which, in this case, would allow the postal service's 250,000 employees who presently belong to no union freedom from ever being compelled to join one.

Another senator, Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., a dissenting member of the Post Office Committee, is seeking passage of his amendment which would strip the bill of all but the wage hike and a set of rate increases to pay for them.

The anti-pornography amendment sets fines of up to $10,000 and jail sentences of up to 10 years. It allows all persons to list themselves as unwilling to receive pornographic mail. Mailers would be prosecuted if they continued to send pornography to the listed addresses.

Petition to Halt Shoe Imports

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Petitions were being circulated today at the Frolic footwear plant here urging government action to curb imports on foreign shoes.

The petitions were circulated by members of Local 728 of the Boot and Shoe Workers of America. Work was being stopped about every 15 minutes in various sections of the plant so union members could sign the petitions.

The petitions asked for everyone to back Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., "in his efforts to control shoe imports into the United States."

"We must have help to save our jobs," said Mrs. Shirley Rhea, a union member. "Workers have watched some 60 shoe plants in the United States close in recent months because of unrestricted imports from abroad."

Frolic President Harry Alberstein said it was "bad enough that we get hurt by imports but we're also losing 300 man hours (of work by petition signing) and we put the blame on the unresponsiveness of the government."

Alberstein expressed dismay at an announcement last week that the Nixon administration was giving reluctant support to imports on textile products but no support on shoe imports.

Frolic, a wholly owned subsidiary of Wolverine Worldwide, employs 1,200 persons at Jonesboro, 300 at Walnut Ridge and 100 at Monette.

New Trials Ordered for Escapees

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court directed Monday that Thomas M. Hildebrandt and Don E. Harding be given new trials on a charge of attempted escape from Cummins Prison Farm. The high court's 6-1 decision said the state had failed to introduce evidence to show that Harding and Hildebrandt were legally in prison when the escape attempt allegedly was made.

The ruling by Associate Justice J. Fred Jones sent the case back to Lincoln County Circuit Court for a new trial.

The charge alleges that about 10 p.m. on June 20, 1969, Hildebrandt and Harding were discovered outside the isolation building where they had been imprisoned. Hildebrandt was wounded in the side by prison guards.

Peru Touched by Visit of Mrs. Nixon

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
LIMA, Peru (AP) — Pat Nixon returns home today with a first-hand picture of the devastation left by the Peruvian earthquake and warm words of praise from a military government that has been feuding with her husband.

President Juan Velasco said Mrs. Nixon's two-day visit went by "too fast." He said he would have liked her to stay longer to see what his country is doing and to get a better idea of "what we feel for your nation."

Velasco's secretary, Gustavo Silva, said the president was "very deeply touched by the gesture of President Nixon in sending his wife."

"If he could have sent the whole U.S. Air Force," he added, "it would not have meant as much as sending his wife."

Going into the heart of the "valley of death" Monday for a helicopter view, to walk in the rubble, meet the refugees and the rescuers, Mrs. Nixon won thanks and good will.

"The destruction was worse than we read about," she said after her five-hour visit to 86-mile-long Huaylas canyon, the area of worst devastation.

Peru's First Lady, Consuelo Velasco, went along as head of her country's national relief organization. It was her first trip to the area since the earthquake May 31.

Mrs. Nixon brought a new spirit to the people who have received her with much happiness," she said.

Mrs. Nixon was indefatigable in her tour. Provided a rest stop at a Red Cross tent she said, "I didn't come here to sit."

She said she came to find out what was needed for relief and reconstruction. And U.S. Peace Corps workers in the canyon gave her their estimate: $20 million to build 40,000 huts in the valley before the spring rains come at the end of September. And they want $8 million of it immediately.

There were other needs, they told her amid the dust and mud and devastation: four military cargo planes for three months duty and 20 trucks of 18 to 20 tons each as donations for two years' work.

Peace Corps Director Joseph Blatchford, who was on the tour, said he hadn't checked out the requests yet.

Mrs. Nixon found much of the rugged valley, beneath snow-capped peaks 22,000 feet high, still looked beautiful, with peaceful farm lands, grazing sheep and pretty streams. Many of the Indian villagers who crowded round her didn't seem sad in the warm sunshine.

But relief officials emphasized the need for shelter, blankets and warm clothes and accepted Mrs. Nixon's plenitude of tents, building supplies and blankets with promises they could be "delivered exactly the way you wish."

Investigation of Destroyer Contract Asked by Sen. Smith

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith has called for an investigation of the Navy's $2.1 billion destroyer contract, charging that industrial espionage may have influenced the outcome of the largest military shipbuilding contract in history.

The Maine Republican reported at least one alleged incident in which secret financial details were disclosed two months prior to the awarding of the destroyer contract.

She requested any payments for the contract be delayed pending a full investigation by the General Accounting Office.

The Navy awarded the contract last week to Ingalls Shipbuilding Division at Pascagoula, Miss. The firm is a subsidiary of Litton Industries. The contract for 30 destroyers also was sought by Maine's Bath Iron Works.

"The very heart of the competitive process," she told the Senate Monday, "has been nullified in the (destroyer) bidding by apparent flagrant discussions of proprietary data."

"It has been alleged to me that personnel of shipping lines, for whom Litton has built, or is building, merchant ships," she continued, "told a member of the House of Representatives at a golf and country club that Litton had underbid Bath by $9 million a ship or $270 million on the 30-ship contract—and that this disclosure was made more than two months before the award of the contract."

"If this is true, there has been a criminal violation of (the U.S. code) by one or more persons in illegal disclosures prior to contract award."

She said the investigation also should cover:

"The possibility that the contract pricing re-set provision ... may have permitted a contractor to take an irregular advantage of the regulations to lower estimated costs with the full knowledge that costs can be negotiated upward several years after the award ..."

MOSAIC DISCOVERED
CHICHESTER, England (AP) — A fine Roman mosaic has been recovered under the floor during restoration work at Chichester's 900-year-old cathedral. Mrs. Margaret Rule, curator of the Roman palace at nearby Fishbourne, says the mosaic dates from the second century AD and is one of the best ever unearthed in Sussex county.

Limit Jail Terms for Fines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court barred 8 to 10 today the sentencing of defendants, who are unable to pay fines, to jail terms beyond the maximums set by state laws.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, announcing the ruling, said the practice, permitted in most states and by the federal government, is unconstitutional because it discriminates against indigent defendants.

The decision does not overthrow the familiar "$30 or 30 days" alternative sentence, although four of the justices said they considered it unconstitutional to jail a poor man under any circumstances simply because he could not pay a fine.

The chief justice grounded his reasoning in opinions on the rights of indigent defendants that were given by the high court under his predecessor, Earl Warren.

In the case at hand, Willie E. Williams of Chicago was convicted in 1967 of petty theft and received the maximum sentence provided by state law: a year in prison and a $500 fine. He served the year, and when he said he could not afford to pay the fine he was sentenced to an additional 101 days.

That is, he would have to "work off" each $5 with an additional day in jail. The extra day was to work off $5 in court costs which he also could not pay.

Burger said Illinois violated Williams' guarantee of "equal protection" by imprisoning him beyond the maximum one-year set by state law. The ceiling cannot be removed, the chief justice said, simply because of a man's economic situation.

Road Toll 4th Anyone's Guess

State Police Director Ralph Scott states the question is often asked, "How many lives will be lost in traffic during the 4th of July holiday period?" The initial reaction is to make a dire prediction based on past statistics. Actually, the answer to the question is as unpredictable as drivers themselves. In the final analysis, the motorists, and they alone, in the end will resolve this question.

Scott said the Arkansas State Police is in the business of saving lives; not predicting misfortune. He said: We live in the optimistic hope that this year will be safer. You can rest assured that every effort will be made to remove the dangerous driver from the highway during the holiday period, thus reducing the probability of fatal crashes.

Scott said patrols will be beefed up and that all enforcement tools at our disposal will be utilized. Radar units will be in place on all major highways, aircraft will conduct visual observation of major highways, being watchful for reckless and hazardous driving. Unmarked patrol cars will be used, also, Scott said.

People on vacation are likely to be in a holiday mood, Scott said, and frequently their pursuit of a good time includes drinking. Unfortunately, too many of them don't realize the danger of driving after drinking. During recent holiday periods, alcohol has accounted for 50 per cent of the traffic death toll.

He encouraged all motorists to drive in a defensive manner. This, Scott said, is adjusting to adverse road, traffic and weather conditions.

Miss Judy Bates was maid of honor. She was attired in a yellow, full-length colonial print dress styled with a fitted bodice, the yoke, high neck and short sleeves accented by olive crocheted lace, and wore a wide-brimmed yellow straw hat. She carried a basket of yellow

Television and Radio Engagement Announced

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In Jack Klugman's case, there is something to be said for type-casting.

In ABC's new "Odd Couple" series he plays Oscar Madison, the frumpy sportswriter, who shares an apartment with prissy Felix Unger.

Between takes on the sound stage, Klugman said: "I am Oscar. I'm a slob, as my wife will testify. I have my own closet and she's learned to stay out of it."

In his many roles on the stage, movies and television, Klugman has often played a kind of Terrible Tempered Mr. Bangs. He says the typecasting stops there.

"I try to make life as simple as possible," he said. "I'm easy going. People think I'm not because of my roles."

"The Odd Couple," in which Klugman co-stars with Tony Randall, is one of two Neil Simon creations being made into series for the fall season. The other is "Barefoot in the Park," with a black cast, and the two will air back-to-back on Thursday nights.

Both actors played the roles on the stage. Klugman replaced Walter Matthau in the original Broadway production and was in the London company for a year. Randall played Felix on three occasions, in Las Vegas and twice in Chicago.

"I'm not too crazy about the idea that the series is presold," Klugman said. "You know Doc Simon is the greatest. It's going to be tough getting enough good scripts."

After filming a scene with Randall, Klugman was asked to compare Oscar on the stage and in the series.

"He's a little more animated here," he said. "He's a little more involved. In the play he doesn't begin to react until near the end. But each television show is like a three-act play. And, of course, you can't get the great jokes that Doc Simon has all the time."

Liza Minnelli's first special, seen Monday night on NBC, was a pleasant summer hour. The showcase was a comfortable one of show tunes, including a few made popular by her mother, Judy Garland.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

LOVE ME, LOVE MY POOL TABLE—WHICH?

Dear Helen:

This boy doesn't really like the girl he's going with. But he likes her pool table. He's over there almost every night playing pool, but on the way home he stops in at my girl friend's.

He's scared to let the pool table girl know he's seeing my friend. Maybe if she had a swimming pool to offer, he'd dump Miss P. T. I know his tricks. He goes where the pickings are best! My friend really digs him. Should I help her out by telling Miss P. T. that he's only after her for one thing—and that isn't love? —V. C.

Dear V.:

Stay out of it because:

1. Miss P. T. would never believe her guy was only "pooling around."
2. She who fools around with other people's romances ends up behind the eight ball.

Your friend might be better off without a tricky picker, so do your part by introducing her to another boy. —H.

Dear Helen:

I'm 15, and the boy I've gone steady with for a month is 17. We love each other a lot. He says a month and a half is all he'll wait, and he's set a date for when I must prove my love. It's in two weeks.

Helen, I don't want to. I say that if he loves me like he says, I'm worth waiting for. But he says if I love him like I say, I won't want to wait. Time is getting short. Please answer before I ruin my life one way or another. —DON'T WANT TO LOSE HIM

Dear Don't:

Proving your love against your will proves only that you are an easy mark for a selfish boy who puts his wants before your welfare.

If you meet his time schedule, you'll end up scared, miserable and hating yourself because you aren't ready, nor is he, for deep commitment, and you certainly aren't the type who would play

Mets Nip Pirates in Clutch Game

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Clendenen thinks Pittsburgh is the team to beat in the National League ... and it seems he's determined to do it all by himself.

Clendenen drove in the winning run with a pinch hit sacrifice fly Monday night as the New York Mets rallied in the ninth inning to nip the Pirates 3-2 in a first place showdown between East Division contenders.

It was the Mets' second victory in five meetings with Pittsburgh this season ... and ex-Pirate Clendenen has provided the margin each time in the pinch.

The part-time first baseman, hero of the Mets' World Series triumph over Baltimore last October, shook up his teammates ... and Manager Gil Hodges ... on the eve of the season opener at Pittsburgh by picking the Pirates to take the pennant.

The next day his two-run pinch single in the 11th gave New York a 5-3 victory.

His sacrifice fly in the ninth Monday night capped a two-run comeback, called Tom Seaver's 12th victory of the season, snapped the Pirates' winning streak at seven and gave the Mets a one-game edge in the division race.

Pinch hitters also supplied the punch as the St. Louis Cardinals struck four runs in the eighth to down Chicago 8-6 and move past the skidding Cubs into third place in the East, 3½ games off the pace. Vic Davalillo and Jose Cardenal came off the Cards' bench to deliver two runs apiece in the eighth, sending the Cubs spinning to their 11th consecutive loss.

Houston whipped Los Angeles 1-5 in the only other NL action. Philadelphia's scheduled game at Montreal was rained out.

In the American League, Washington upended Baltimore 5-3; Minnesota edged Kansas City 5-4 and California blasted Milwaukee 10-3.

The Mets trailed 2-1 when rookie Ken Singleton singled to open the bottom of the ninth. He took third on Art Shamsky's single and scored the tying run when Dave Marshall bounced a single through the Pirates' drawn-in infield.

Joe Gibbon replaced Pittsburgh starter Steve Blass and hit Ken Boswell with his first pitch, filling the bases with none out. Orlando Pena came out of the bullpen and got pinch hitter Cleon Jones to tap into a force at the plate. But Clendenen, swinging for Jerry Grote, sent Marshall across with a fly to deep right, breaking the knot.

Seaver, 12-5, had a two-hitter until the top of the ninth, when he was cuffed for singles by Richie Hebner, Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell, giving the Pirates a one-run edge.

Clendenen had no predictions to make after the Mets' seventh win in nine games.

The Cards overtook the Cubs with a four-run eighth after Ernie Banks, who drove in five Chicago runs, broke a 4-4 tie in the top of the inning with his second two-run homer off Steve Carlton.

A walk, Joe Torre's single and a bunt single by Jim Beauchamp filled the bases with none out in the bottom half and Davalillo's pinch double off Phil Regan tied it before Cardenal stroked the deciding two-run single.

Bob Watson cracked a single, double and homer, driving in five runs, as the Astros pummeled Bill Singer and ended the Dodgers' winning streak at six games. Joe Pepitone also homered for Houston.

Singer, who pitched 7 2-3 hitless innings against Atlanta last week, was kayoed in the third after yielding five runs and seven hits.

McLain to Join Tigers Wednesday

DETROIT (AP) — True to form, Denny McLain is being secretive about his return to Detroit.

McLain will end a three-month suspension, imposed by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for involvement in book-making activities, Wednesday night when he takes the mound against the New York Yankees at Tiger Stadium.

McLain originally had said he would arrive in Detroit from his Lakeland, Fla., home Tuesday, but he said Monday he may not return until Wednesday.

It also is not known where McLain, his wife and their two children will stay once they get to Detroit.

They were evicted from their rented home in suburban Beverly Hills for nonpayment of rent and have been living at his home near the Lakeland Tiger training camp since winter.

McLain said they have a place to stay in Detroit, but wouldn't say where. His wife said Monday they plan to look for a home.

Piraino Bowling Winner

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Marty Piraino, who closes his Syracuse, N.Y., bowling lanes each summer to compete in the Professional Bowlers Association tour, won his third title Monday night, capturing the Fresno Open Tournament.

The short, stocky southpaw took over the lead in the afternoon opening session of the match game finals and, in the evening, kept adding to his advantage to take the winner's share of $3,000 by a solid 217-pin margin.

Piraino, who travels the two-month-long tour with his wife and two young children, took five of his seven games in the evening session, giving him an overall record of 11 wins and five losses. His total pinfall for the 16 games in the finals was 3,750, a 234 average.

Finishing second at 9,355 after the 40 game grind which started last Saturday was Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis, who has taken two championships this year.

Wayne Zahn of Tempe, Ariz., who has 11 PBA titles to his credit, took third place with 9,342 for $1,400 while Carmen Salvo, Chicago, and Harry Smith, Fresno, a couple of PBA veterans, were fourth and fifth respectively.

Artificial Turf Takes Over Sports

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The manufacturers call it AstroTurf, Tartan Turf and Poly Turf. The athletes have labeled it Mod-Sod. But whatever it's called there's little doubt that the increasing use of man-made grass substitutes could change the nature of several sports.

The mod-sod revolution began virtually unnoticed when, in 1963, the first synthetic surface was installed at the Meadows harness racing track near Washington, Pa. Not until three years later was the first baseball diamond or football field covered, at Houston's Astrodome.

Now, seven professional baseball and football fields are covered with one of the three major varieties of artificial turf, more than 30 college football fields have been covered or are in the process of being covered with synthetic surfaces and the number of running tracks resurfaced is reaching toward 100.

And those figures do not include the large number of municipally owned facilities from Flint, Mich., to Wichita Falls, Tex. and from St. Petersburg, Fla. to Spokane, Wash. already converted to mod-sod.

The three major manufacturers of synthetic surfaces are Monsanto, makers of AstroTurf; 3M Company, makers of Tartan Turf; and American Blitrite, makers of Poly Turf. AstroTurf and Tartan Turf are nylon products and Poly Turf is a resin compound called polypropylene.

AstroTurf and Tartan Turf cost about $3 per square foot to install, or somewhere in the neighborhood of $250,000 for a football field. Poly-Turf is not as expensive, and made its first major league breakthrough recently when the Orange Bowl, home of the Miami Dolphins, signed a contract.

Tartan Turf also has been installed in only one major league facility, Pittsburgh's new Three Rivers Stadium while AstroTurf, the acknowledged leader in the glamor field of major league stadia, has its surface in Cincinnati, Dallas, Houston, Philadelphia, St. Louis and San Francisco.

AstroTurf leads in the college football field with 26 installations to eight for Tartan Turf and three for Poly Turf. But Tartan Turf has made its most significant strides in track with a resin compound now in use at 78 world-wide facilities, including 32 in the United States.

And it's in track that the synthetic surfaces—which resist wear and inclement weather better than grass and require less maintenance—have first provided evidence that mod-sod will have a major affect on sports as more and more fields are converted.

At the recent Mexico City Olympics, on a track of Tartan Turf, more records were broken in running events than in any Olympic carnival in history, not one event from 1,500 meters on down surviving the assault despite the rarefied atmosphere that was supposed to drain athletes.

In the nine men's events, up to and including the 1,500, six world records were set, one equalled and two Olympic records established.

In the six women's events, four provided world records, one tied the world mark and another tied the Olympic record.

Liston Wants Shot at Title

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Sonny Liston, a winner again, sat in his dressing room and said he'd like another try at the heavyweight boxing championship.

In the next round Chuck Wepner soaked his feet in ice water and made a few unkind remarks about referee Barney Felix, who halted Monday night's fight against Liston after the ninth round with Wepner's face a bloody mask.

Liston, now 38, said earlier the fight could have meant the end of the road for him. But he made the oddsmakers look good winning every round but the fifth and sixth and drawing the third.

Wepner, supported by a large contingent of hometown fans from neighboring Bayonne, had hoped a victory would lead him into big-money boxing and a fight against title contender Jerry Quarry.

Now, if either man fights Quarry, it will be Liston. A Jersey City syndicate has put up $40,000 for that bout.

Washington Beats Orioles 3 in Row

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore's ailing Orioles are getting quite good at snatching defeat from the jaws of victory after three straight doses of Washington's newest medicine — late-inning lightning.

The Birds came out of the short end of a 5-3 decision Monday night—the third straight game in which Washington came from behind in its final at bat to win the game.

Saturday night it was Wayne Comer's bases-loaded eighth-inning double that did the damage. Then Sunday, Rick Reichardt ripped a pinch two-run homer to turn the game around in the 12th. And on Monday night it was a three-run homer by Aurelio Rodriguez that wiped out a Baltimore lead.

Elsewhere in the light American League scheduled Monday night, Minnesota tripped Kansas City 5-4 and California battered Milwaukee 10-3.

In the National League, New York edged Pittsburgh 3-2, St. Louis knocked off Chicago 8-6 and Houston drubbed Los Angeles 10-5. Philadelphia's game at Montreal was rained out.

The Orioles' American League East lead was trimmed to two games over idle New York as they lost their fifth game in the last seven starts.

Frank Howard had poled an early two-run homer for the Senators but Baltimore battled back, tying the score in the fourth on a walk, Frank Robinson's infield hit and RBI-singles by Boog Powell and Paul Blair.

Then the Birds went ahead in the seventh—a fatal mistake on singles by Brooks Robinson and Ellie Hendricks and a sacrifice fly by Mark Belanger.

Washington bounced right back when Ed Brinkman opened the eighth with a single and Howard walked with one out. Reichardt, Sunday's hero, bounced out but Rodriguez followed with his 12th homer of the year to win the game.

Hot-hitting Cesar Tovar cracked four straight hits including a game-winning triple as Minnesota overcame a four-run Kansas City lead to beat the Royals.

Tovar's sixth inning triple drove in winning pitcher Jim Perry, who was credited with a double when his fly ball fell between KC outfielders Amos Otis and Pat Kelly.

Tovar, who has raised his average 30 points and moved past .300 in the last five games, keyed Minnesota's comeback after the Royals tagged Perry for four runs in the first, two of them on Ed Kirkpatrick's double.

Perry allowed only two hits after the third inning and mowed down 14 in a row over one stretch. Ron Perranoski came on to get the final out.

Sandy Alomar, whose 22-game hitting streak was ended Sunday, cracked two triples, a double and a single leading California's romp past Milwaukee.

Clyde Wright rode the 12-hit Angel attack to his 11th victory of the season. Ed Fisher finished up.

Alomar scored three times and drove in one run. He started California off quickly when he tripled in front of Roger Repoz' first inning homer.

Tommy Harper had three hits including a homer and Max Alvis also connected for the Brewers.

Hall Traded to Atlanta

The Braves announced the purchase Monday and said Hall should join the team today in Cincinnati.

Otis, Star at Lubbock, Saints' Pick

By BEN THOMAS

Associated Press Sports Writer

As he packs his bags for training camp, Coach Tom Fears of the New Orleans Saints is chuckling about what he calls "my bargain draft choice."

His bargain? Running back Jim Otis; the most valuable player in the weekend's Coach es' All American football game at Lubbock, Tex.

"I was very pleased with Otis' performance," said Fears, who didn't pick the Ohio State star until the ninth round of last winter's collegiate draft by the National Football League.

"He showed more quickness than we thought he had. But, after all, he looked like a bargain when we drafted him—and that's why we did. I thought he would have gone much higher."

Fears said today that Otis, who gained 1,057 yards rushing last fall for Ohio State, wasn't impressive when the Saints conducted a camp for rookies in New Orleans earlier in June.

"But our drills were primarily for receivers and defensive backs and not conducive to showing off a hard-running back's abilities."

The New Orleans coach was waiting word today about another of his running backs, veteran Ernie Wheelwright.

Pro Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle and Wheelwright, a 10-year NFL veteran, met Monday in New York to discuss Wheelwright's ownership of a nightclub in a New Orleans suburb.

Rozelle had said previously NFL security agents had told Wheelwright "they thought it would be wise" for him to dispose of his interest in "Central Park South," a night club which Wheelwright opened in mid May.

Wheelwright insists he's the sole owner but Rozelle says his security people are concerned over the ownership of the building in which the establishment is located.

There was no announcement from Rozelle's office as to the result of Monday's discussion. Fears said he had expected to hear from Wheelwright after the session but hadn't.

Elsewhere Monday on the pro football front: —Track star John Carlos, one of the black militant protesters at the 1968 Olympics, has agreed to terms with the Philadelphia Eagles, it was reported, and is expected to sign a contract later this week.

Neither Pete Retzlaff, Philadelphia's general manager, nor Pappy Gault, Carlos' advisor and negotiator, would say whether the Olympic medalist got a million-dollar pact. "Both John and I are very satisfied," said Gault.

—Washington Redskins' Coach Vince Lombardi, who underwent surgery late last week, was reported by a hospital spokesman to be "normal at this stage of post-operative recovery." Surgeons removed a tumor from Lombardi's lower intestine but it was not believed malignant.

—The Buffalo Bills announced the signing of their No. 1 draft choice, defensive tackle Al Cowlings of Southern California. Cowlings played high school and college football with O.J. Simpson, the 1968 Heisman Trophy winner and Buffalo's No. 1 pick a year ago.

St. Andrews Is Target of U.S. Golfers

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — The British Open next week at historic St. Andrews may mark a turning point in American golf, veteran Gene Sarazen predicted today.

"The pressure is on the U.S. players to win," the 68-year-old ex-champion said. "If Tony Jacklin or another Briton wins it, it will be proof that after 50 years the game has turned full circle."

"Jack Hutchison, a Scotsman who emigrated to America, was the first overseas winner of the British and Americans won 11 of the next 12 British Opens. The United States asserted its world golf supremacy."

"Now a Briton, Jacklin, holds both the U.S. and British Opens. If he should repeat—and he well might—then American golf would slip to secondary status."

Sarazen stopped over in New York en route to Scotland to compete in the tournament which he won in 1932. In his last fling with St. Andrews Old Course in 1960, Sarazen shot a 69. Australia's Kel Nagle won the 1960 title with a stroke over Arnold Palmer.

"I think Palmer has a good chance to win this year," said Gene. "If the course is fast and the wind blows, you'll have to pick the British. If it's slow, the Americans have a good chance."

"I think Jack Nicklaus especially will be on the spot. He needs to win another big one. If he doesn't win one soon, he will start worrying that maybe he's slipping and he'll be talking to himself. This can be very dangerous."

"As for Bill Casper, he will be tough because he is such a perfectionist. But he may have trouble with the greens. They're tremendously big greens, undulating and fast. Casper is a bold putter. These greens call for perfect shooting."

Sarazen said golf on the American tour had become largely a "pitch and putt" contest because of the easy courses.

"When 40 players break 70, you know the courses are too easy," he said. "The fellows on the tour are

Graves, Shinn Win Country Club 4-Ball

Local golfer Al Graves and Joe Shinn of Little Rock teamed to win the Hope Country 4-ball tournament held this weekend. They shot a 5 under par 135. Graves and Shinn overtook the first day leaders John Graves and Bill Hairr, to win by 2 strokes.

Hairr and John Graves led after the first day's round with a 4 under par 66 holding a one shot lead over the eventual winners. However, Shinn knocked in a 35 foot putt on the first hole to put his team in a tie for the lead. They picked up 2 more shots in the first 6 holes when Al Graves knocked in a 60 foot putt on number 4 and Shinn chipped in from off the green on number 6 for a birdie. From this point on they were never in serious trouble.

Third place winners in the Championship Flight were Keith Golden and Bill Nolen of Little Rock who shot an even par 140 and won a playoff over Van Elder and Slim Ellis of Nashville and Jim McKenzie and Roland Culp of Prescott. Defending Champions Henry and Lee Fenwick shot 142 to finish sixth.

Ben Hogan Still Golfer at Age 58

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ban-lam Ben Hogan, the wiry golf great who thrives on his deep concentration on the game, is having the time of his life at 58...with golf.

He isn't playing in many tournaments on the pro tour where his name became No. 1 in the golf world, but he's "keeping at my game" and making plans for the future.

And don't let anybody kid you. Hogan will be back for more tournaments and will pick his spots "when I'm ready."

"I don't know where anybody gets the idea that I'm through," Hogan said Monday. "I've read that I wasn't going to play in any more tournaments. That's absolutely untrue.

"Right now, I don't know when or where I'll play next, but I am playing well and I practice all the time. If you're going to play well, you have to do both...practice and play."

Hogan's most recent round in competition was Sunday when he teamed with Sam Snead in a best-ball match at Piper, Kan. They defeated Byron Nelson and Jug McSpaden 3 and 2.

Afterwards, Nelson, one of golf's elite and now retired from tournament play, said Hogan was driving better than at any time in his long career.

Finley Is New Owner of Seals

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Just because Charles O. Finley is the new owner of the Oakland Seals, don't expect the National Hockey League team to start wearing white skates to match the white baseball shoes Finley's Oakland A's wear.

Not right away, anyhow.

"White skates are out right now from what I've heard the governors say," said Finley, Monday, after his $4.5 million bid was accepted over a comparable offer by roller skating promoter Jerry Seltzer. "One governor told me they'd be fine but the fans in his building would wave hankies and blow kisses at the players."

Getting fans in Oakland's building is Finley's first project. He is the third owner of the financially-troubled team in as many years and his investment "paid off all of the franchise's outstanding obligations and left a modest excess," according to Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL.

Finley first stepped into the sports picture a decade ago when he purchased the Kansas City Athletics. After a turbulent seven years spiced with several civic battles, Finley moved the team to Oakland after the 1967 season. "I looked into possibly buying the Seals then," he said, "but I didn't pursue it because the A's were just moving and I wanted to concentrate on baseball at that time."

Finley outfitted his baseball club in flashy uniforms which feature kelly green and gold color combinations—"my favorite colors." He said he expected to use the same colors for the Seals.

"You know," said Finley, "many people refer to my operation in baseball as flamboyant. I like to think of it as colorful. Regardless of what you're selling—baseball, insurance, hockey—you've got to put color into it."

"If people think a colorful uniform is flamboyant, then it's too bad. I like color and my players like their uniforms."

Finley said he believed the main problem in Oakland so far has been in the area of promotion.

"I believe in making fans feel wanted and appreciated," Finley continued. "I want fans to feel entertained at a game—during the periods and between them too. But I learned in baseball that you can have a lousy team and no matter how much promotion you do, it's impossible to ballyhoo a funeral."

Finley, 52, said he planned to move his family to the Oakland area. That overcame one of the main objections to his bid because the Board of Governors was in no mood to accept absentee ownership for the floundering Seals.

He lives and operates his insurance business out of La-Pointe, Ind.

Travelers Again Beat San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Missions took a licking from Arkansas again Monday night, losing a 12-0 Texas League ball game and falling to the Travelers for the 13th time in 16 outings this year.

San Antonio collected only two hits. The Missions were charged with eight errors, four of which came in the fourth when Arkansas scored six runs, and three more came in the seventh when the Travs tallied four times.

Arkansas added single scores in the first and third frames. Memphis completed a five-game sweep over Shreveport in their Texas League series Monday night by dumping the Braves 5-2 and 5-4 in a double-header.

In other league action Albuquerque defeated Amarillo 6-4 and El Paso edged Dallas-Fort Worth 6-5.

Devlin Now Is 5th in Golf Money

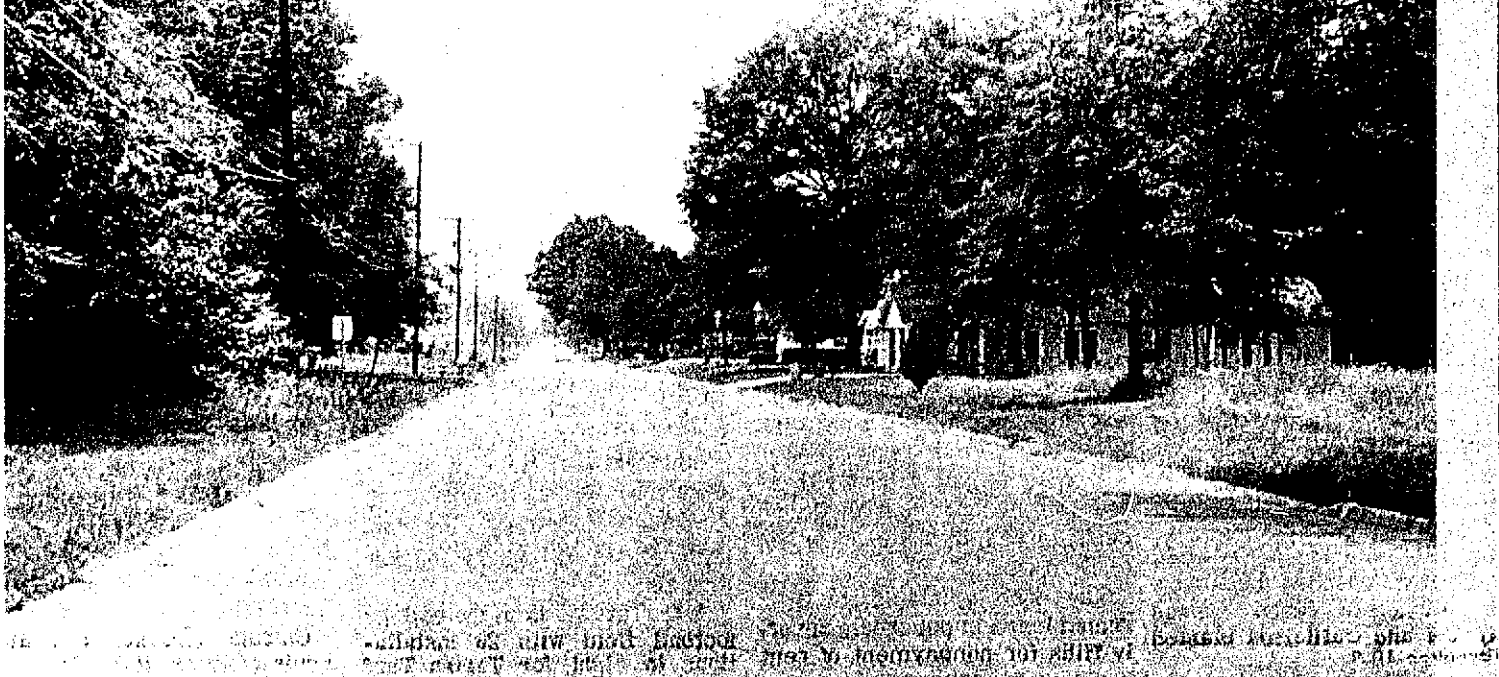

NEW YORK (AP) — Australian Bruce Devlin has vaulted from 17th to fifth on the pro golf tour's money-winners' list but he's still far back in the pack on the player point list, the PGA Tournament Players Division reported Monday.

Devlin won $30,000 in the Cleveland Open Sunday, increasing his earnings for the year to $87,499 for 13 tournaments. The figure represents a career high for Devlin, who joined the U.S. tour in 1962. He has 602 points.

For the 14th straight week, Lee Trevino was the leader in both divisions with $118,785 and 1,115.6 points. The point totals will be used by the PGA Tournament Players Division to determine exemptions for the tour next year.

STREET COST PAST 3 YEARS $945,329

Top photo shows the street program in Hope over the past three years — and that "ain't hay"! Bottom photo shows Avenue B, sometimes referred to as "Industrial Boulevard", started in 1967 and completed in 1968. It is also 36 feet wide, with standard curb and gutters.

Nearly one million dollars has been spent on the street program in Hope over the past three years — and that "ain't hay"!

And, it's all paid for under the City Management form of government.

The cost covers about 18 miles of new and resurfacing of existing streets, some new water and sewerage lines under the new pavement, as well as new curb and gutters, total of 279 blocks.

The record shows for 1967 — $230,782, in 1968 — $293,295; and in 1969 — $421,252.

Do you know what was spent on Hope streets for maintenance and construction for the three years PRIOR to City Management?

Here are the figures: In 1955 — $4,553. In 1956 — $7,935. In 1957 — $2,003. Total sum — a "puny" $14,441.

Take a look at the top photo. This is sixth street, a 36-foot vital artery east-west from Edgewood to Fair Park, completed in 1969, with adequate storm sewers.

The bottom photo shows Avenue B, sometimes referred to as "Industrial Boulevard", started in 1967 and completed in 1968. It is also 36 feet wide, with standard curb and gutters.

Other streets of this type include South Grady in Southland Heights, South Edgewood, California Street, and a part of East Fourth.

Altogether on these streets, 26,584 feet of curb was built over a total of 44 blocks of city streets.

During the past three years, the City has also purchased considerable new machinery for road building — and that's all paid for — but that's another story coming up soon.

British Hope Is Taylor at Wimbledon

LONDON (AP) — Roger Taylor has become a figure of delirious hero worship among British tennis fans.

They hope to see the 38-year-old English left-hander, who upset defending champion Rod Laver last Saturday, become the first Briton to win the Wimbledon tennis championship since Fred Perry in 1937.

Only Taylor, who today faced Clark Graebner, the last American hope for the prestigious title, is urging caution.

"This is only the quarter-finals," he said. "Clark Graebner's big service could cause me more trouble than Rod Laver did."

"I don't want the crowd to expect too much and then feel let down if I lose."

Graebner, 26, of New York, has a reputation as the biggest server among the eight men left in contention.

At least one American fan is convinced Graebner will overcome Taylor and go on to win the title. That's his wife Carole, who played in the women's singles here but was eliminated in her first match.

The bookies today made John Newcombe of Australia, champion in 1967, favorite for the title at 9-4 odds.

Tony Roche of Australia was made second favorite at 3-1, and then came Graebner at 6-1. Two more Australians, Roy Emerson and Ken Rosewall, were 7-1.

British fans were taken by surprise when Taylor, a contracted professional for the last three years, demolished Laver in four sets.

But Mike Davies, director of the American National Tennis League which has Taylor under contract, said: "I wasn't all that surprised. Roger is a rugged, strong guy, and very fit. He thrives on hard work, and he's not the kind of player who needs a rest after a tough match such as he played against Laver."

Taylor has never defeated Graebner. The American has an extra burden to bear since Arthur Ashe, who was rated the top American hope for the title, has also been eliminated.

A good dummy player starts proceedings by trying to find a sure thing play. Then he looks around for the play that gives him the best chance. Finally, he just plays a card while retaining as many options as possible and hopes for the best.

South won the diamond lead and counted four very probable losing tricks. It looked as if his best bet would be to find someone with king-queen-small or doubleton king-queen of clubs. So he cashed dummy's ace of clubs and ruffed a second club. Nothing interesting dropped, so plan A was out.

Now, South played a heart to dummy's ace and ruffed another club for want of anything better to do. Then he cashed his king of hearts and was relieved to find both opponents following. Now he was not going to lose more than one trump. South saw some daylight ahead.

He played a diamond to dummy and noted West's discard of a spade. Now South played a fourth club from dummy. East discarded a diamond. It wasn't going to do him any good to ruff at this point. South discarded a diamond also.

This loser-on-loser play ended South's troubles. West was on lead with nothing but spades and had to lead one. It didn't matter which spade he led. South was going to get out with the loss of one club, one spade and one trump.

It is interesting to note that South's line of play would have worked just as well if East held the fourth club and West the third heart. South would have ruffed the fourth club in this case. If West overruffed, he would have been forced to lead a spade. If West discarded, he would have been thrown in with the good trump with the same end result.

Jim Hart on National TV 4th of July

Jim Hart, minister of music and education at First Baptist church, will appear on national television with Billy Graham and Bob Hope in two hour-long Independence Day telecasts from Washington, D. C., Rev. Gerald Trussell, pastor of the church, said today.

The music minister is a

member of The Centurymen, a 100-voice men's choir sponsored by the Southern Baptists' Radio and Television Commission. The two "Honor America Day" programs will be carried by all three TV networks from 11 a.m. to noon and from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. both Eastern Daylight Time, on Saturday, July 4th. Consult your TV Guide or local listing for the local times of these telecasts.

In the morning program, the group will sing from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial behind the stage on which Graham and other speakers will appear. They will be the only featured group in massed choir.

They are also scheduled for a solo performance in the evening telecast, starring Bob Hope. The group consisting of ministers of music from Baptist churches in 22 states, will be under choral direction of James Woodward. Their arrangements are by Buryl Red, musical director.

The purpose of the programs, according to the "Honor America Day" Committee, is to rekindle the American spirit of patriotism.

Hope and Graham are co-chairmen of the committee, with Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower and former Presidents Truman and Johnson honorary chairmen. Miss Joe Ann Shelton of the Baptist Radio-TV Commission organized the Centurymen last year and now serves as their executive secretary. She worked with the "American Day" Committee and network officials on arrangements for the two patriotic telecasts.

Plenty of Faults Found in Nation's Health Care System

By LARRY AULT

Hot Springs Sentinel-Record
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Legalized gambling is an issue and you still hear about it, especially during an election year.

Hot Springs once was referred to as "Little Las Vegas" and people were proud of it. The wide open gambling was referred to as the backbone of the city economy.

Various trends to revive gambling as a legalized sport have occurred in the years since former Gov. Orval E. Faubus made an initial crackdown. People hid slot machines in their basements and garages while others continued to operate private casinos in clubs in Little Rock.

The Rockefeller administration and Col. Lynn Davis of the Arkansas State Police finally appeared to have whipped what so many felt was the one thing which made Hot Springs live.

But you still hear about it. Anytime an election year is at hand, the old fever to bring back gambling begins to spread.

"It's election time again and you can expect the gambling issue to be at least mentioned."

To determine what the citizens of Hot Springs feel about the prospect of legalized gambling, The Sentinel-Record conducted a sample survey by telephone this week, selecting numbers at random.

The question: "Do you think gambling should be made legal in Hot Springs and how would you vote on this issue in a general election?"

The responses were mixed. One lady said, "It's their privilege. I don't gamble but I don't feel like others who wish to should be prohibited."

"What would Christ do about it?" asked one lady. The next call reached a young man who said, "I could care less."

Another lady started, "I don't understand anything about it. I'm just not interested."

A typical remark was, "They are going to gamble anyway, we might as well bring it out in the open."

"You bet I'm for it — my whole family is for it," resounded from many people who obviously feel that if gambling were brought back, Hot Springs might live again in the same vein as it did "back in the old days."

Then the Spa was one of the biggest attractions for businessmen, politicians and people on vacations who wanted to spend their money.

Things have slowed down

Since those days and there are people who are just waiting for it to happen again. There was no place like Hot Springs except Las Vegas and the Spa had more to offer than gambling — sun and sand. People liked it here.

The results of the survey were that out of 100 calls, 40 were for, 32 against, 25 had no comment or did not know and three persons hung up. One of the gentlemen who hung up must have thought someone was playing a joke on him.

Many people who do not agree that legalized gambling is a joke are either very much in favor or strongly against legislation to legalize it. Whether or not the call for legal action to bring in gambling and bring back the old days is hear again this year is anybody's guess.

The new justice's vote may be critical, too, when the court picks up where it left off on whether young men are entitled to exemptions if they have sincere scruples against the Vietnam conflict but do not claim to be opposed to warfare generally.

Significantly, perhaps, Blackmun joined Burger and Justices Byron R. White and Potter Stewart in dissenting Monday as the Supreme Court upset a draft evasion conviction.

The ruling was an outgrowth of the 5-3 decision earlier this month that sincere opponents of warfare generally may be classified as conscientious objectors. Blackmun's dissent suggests he may take a hard line on future draft cases. As a new man he did not participate in the earlier decision.

Disputes over the pace of school desegregation evidently will continue to bedevil the justices. Monday the court swept one of the toughest from its doorstep temporarily by declining to rule immediately on the extent of busing and racial balances that may be required in Charlotte-Mecklenburg County, N.C.

After lower courts pass judgment on new desegregation plans for North Carolina's largest school district the case probably will come back to the justices—perhaps before the new session opens in early October.

Blackmun seems to hold the swing vote on whether it is constitutional to jail a defendant simply because he cannot afford to pay a fine.

The eight other justices were unanimous Monday in ruling that the answer is "no" when the jailing extends the man's prison term beyond the maximum set for the crime.

Israeli Kill Curfew Violator

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli army patrol shot and killed a woman who was out after curfew Monday night in Gaza City, informed sources reported today. They said she was one of a group of persons who fled when the patrol approached and ordered the group to halt. One man was caught and arrested.

The Israeli military command reported that Israeli planes crossed the Suez Canal again Monday night and pounded Egyptian targets on the west bank. All planes returned safely, spokesmen said.

Israeli spokesmen also reported that guerrillas in Jordan fired two rocket salvos today at the Israeli frontier town of Beit Shean. The rockets caused some damage but there were no reports of casualties, the military command said.

Yitzhak Rabin, Israel's ambassador to the United States, flew back to Washington after spending the weekend in Tel Aviv discussing the latest U.S. proposals for peace in the Middle East. He said he had "no surprises" to take back to the United States.

Israel's cabinet summoned Rabin to Tel Aviv for consultations Friday after Secretary of State William P. Rogers announced the U.S. peace plan.

Premier Golda Meir said Monday Israel would not go along with a temporary Arab-Israeli cease-fire, reportedly one of the key points in the U.S. plan.

Mrs. Meir told the Israeli parliament she would not describe the proposal "because it was presented to us not for publication." But her speech was seen as the Israeli government's reaction to the plan.

Underlining Israel's determination to hold on to the Arab sector of Jerusalem, captured in the 1967 war, Israel's district court in Jerusalem disclosed it will move on July 16 to the court rooms used by the Jordanians before the war.

Last year the national police headquarters was transferred to the Arab quarter.

Lloyd McCuiston of West Memphis, and Joe Holland, a former state representative.

He said that the deputy prosecutor was "supposed to act as attorney for your public officials, but because I would not surrender my authority as your sheriff to the political interests of a few he has undertaken to prosecute me now rather than to have advised me of the provisions of Arkansas Statute 84-2834."

The act provides for the disposition of uncashed winning parimutuel tickets at the Southland dog racing track at West Memphis. The $26,255.17 alleged shortage represented sums due to the county General Fund for the years 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1968 from such uncashed tickets.

Thomas said Hale had never advised him of the law, which provides that one-third of the uncashed tickets shall go to the county General Fund. The State Police fund and the track share equally in the other two-thirds.

In his statement, Thomas said: "You should know that I was informed by the so-called political powers that if I would not seek re-election as your sheriff that this entire matter would not be made public and no prosecution would be instituted against me."

Every Election Year Hot Springs Hears of Gambling Revival

By G. C. THELEN Jr.

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A task force commissioned by the Nixon administration has found the nation's health care system antiquated, inefficient, largely inaccessible to the poor and ripe for change.

As a first step, the blue ribbon panel says the administration should scrap the $6 billion-a-year medicare program and substitute 100 per cent federally financed health insurance for up to 40 million poor persons. The yearly cost would range between $10 billion and $18 billion.

The task force also wants consumers to have greater voice in operating health institutions with the federal government more involved in developing a new medical care system.

The chairman of the advisory committee, Blue Cross President Walter McNeerney, endorsed some form of universal national health insurance. But the panel suggested a second committee to consider possible national insurance legislation that could be introduced in 1971.

The administration already has incorporated some of the panel's recommendations in its own legislative proposals, notably, government support of prepaid group practice and a small-scale trial of federal health insurance for welfare recipients.

The President's plan unveiled three weeks ago substitutes contributory, federal insurance for medicare assistance to the estimated 6 million families that would be eligible under the pending family assistance welfare reform proposal.

The McNeerney panel, however, wants all poor people—married or single, with or without children—to have paid-up insurance.

The task force concluded medicare has failed its promise of financial aid for all the poor who need medical care because of stinginess by the states in setting eligibility requirements.

The task force said consumers are now effectively shut out of policy making in hospitals, medical insurance companies and government health units.

The panel, largely composed of health professionals, advocated mandatory consumer representation on all health organizations getting federal assistance.

The panel said the government should preserve and strengthen "the essential voluntary aspects of our health care provider system" while stimulating neighborhood clinics for the poor, prepaid group practice, and home services as a substitute for some hospital care.

Government assumption of all medical cost without change in the system would only spur inflation, the report said.

Homosexuals Parade for 'Rights'
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Homosexuals in New York and Hollywood have paraded to press demands for equal treatment with heterosexuals.

About 3,000 persons, members of homosexual and sexual freedom groups from the Northeast marched from Greenwich Village to a Central Park "gay in" Sunday, concluding a series of events called Gay Pride Week. Meanwhile, in Hollywood, police estimated that 400 persons in various attitudes and accompanied by a makeshift float and a python, marched down Hollywood Boulevard. The event's sponsors said some 1,200 persons participated in the mile-long parade. Michael Brown, 29, a founder of the Gay Liberation Front in New York, said, "We're probably the most harassed, persecuted minority group in history, but we'll never have the freedom and civil rights we deserve as human beings unless we stop hiding in closets and in the shelter of anonymity... This march is an affirmation and declaration of our new pride." In New York, hundreds of spectators observed the demonstration. Some spectators of the Hollywood parade booed, made cat-calls and wolf whistles, but others cheered and applauded. There was no violence.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Selling To Minors
By scripping and saving, 14-year-old Freddie accumulated a nest egg of almost $400. One day he spent the whole thing on a shiny new motorbike that he had been eyeing in a store window. A few days later, after a sobering talk with his parents, Freddie took the motorbike back to the store and asked for a refund. The merchant refused, but finally had to give in when the matter was taken to court. The judge reminded him that a minor has a legal right to back out of his contracts.

"Always," said the judge, "the courts have attempted to protect persons of tender years from the wiles of those who would take advantage of them and from the effects of their own folly." This safeguard for the youthful purchaser, this "right to disaffirm," has been a part of Anglo-American law for centuries. It extends to anyone not yet of age, which usually means anyone under 21. In most states, it applies even if the merchandise has been damaged or destroyed—that is, even if Freddie had negligently smashed up the motorbike in an accident. His negligence, too, would be considered a part of his immaturity.

However, the right to disaffirm does not apply to the purchase of necessities, such as food, clothing, and medical supplies. A teenager might be able to cancel a purchase of costly, custom-made boots, but not a purchase of everyday shoes. Furthermore, there are now growing doubts about the whole notion of a right to disaffirm. Today's youth, observed one court, are often more sophisticated than their parents—hence less in need of special protection. Certainly it isn't as easy to think of them as babes in the commercial woods when they are wielding a buying power of perhaps 25 billion dollars per year.

Accordingly, in varying degree, state legislatures have been getting stricter with young people. One way has been to hold them fully responsible for certain types of contracts, such as educational loans. Another way has been to lower the age of maturity to 18. Still another way has been to deny the cancellation privilege to any youth who has deceived the merchant about his age.

"The privilege may be used as a shield to protect the (minor)," said one court, "not as a sword to inflict injuries upon another."

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION
Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in the City of Hope, Arkansas, on the 14 day of July, 1970, at which there will be submitted to the electors of the city the following question, to-wit:

FOR the proposition to reorganize this city under the mayor-council form of government. ☐ AGAINST the proposition to reorganize this city under the mayor-council form of government. ☐

The election thereupon shall be conducted, the votes canvassed, and the results declared in the same manner as provided by law with respect to other city elections. The county Board of Election Commissioners will certify the results of such election to the mayor, as provided by law, and the results so certified shall be conclusive and not subject to attack unless suit is brought to contest such certification within thirty (30) days after such certification in the Circuit Court of Hempstead County, Arkansas.

If a majority of the votes cast at such election shall be in favor of the proposition, and no suit is brought to contest the certification of the results of said election within a thirty (30) day period after such certification by the county Board of Election Commissioners, the mayor will file with the secretary of state and the county clerk of Hempstead County, Arkansas, certificates stating that the proposition was adopted. Thereafter, and in that event, the city of Hope shall proceed to elect officials of such municipality in the manner and at the time provided by law for the election of municipal officers in municipalities operating under the mayor-council form of government. If, on the other hand, the proposition is defeated, the city of Hope will continue to operate under the city manager form of government as now provided by law.

Only qualified electors of the city of Hope, Arkansas, will have the right to vote and the electors may vote either for or against the proposition. The election will be held between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., at the following polling places in the city of Hope, Arkansas, to-wit: Box 1-A, Hope Fire Station; Box 1-B, James Motor Co.; Box 1-C, Green Lashier HD Club; Box 1-D, Jones Field House; Box 2-A, Courthouse upstairs court room; Box 2-B, little courtroom at Courthouse downstairs; Ward 3, W.O.W. Hall; Box 4-A, Hope City Hall; Box 4-B, Hope Youth Center. GIVEN under my hand and seal on this 28 day of May 1970. FRANK DOUGLAS Mayor of Hope, Arkansas

DOCTOR'S MAILBOX

Circulation of Blood Important in Phlebitis
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is meant by "vascular disease"?

A—The term is not used by itself. Cardiovascular disease refers to a coronary heart attack; cerebrovascular disease to a stroke caused by a brain hemorrhage or blocking of an artery in the brain; and peripheral vascular disease to hardening of the arteries, clotting (Buerger's disease) or arterial spasms (Raynaud's disease) in the extremities.

Q—What causes phlebitis? Can it be cured?

A—Phlebitis is an inflammation in the veins, usually in the legs. It may be caused by an infection or by abnormal slowing of the circulation. It may follow childbirth or an operation. After the acute stage, during which bed rest is advised, you should wear an elastic bandage. Don't cross your legs while sitting but keep them elevated on a foot stool. When standing you should wiggle your toes frequently to keep the blood circulating. In stubborn cases surgical removal of the clot may be necessary.

Q—How does a blood clot affect a person?

A—When it is present in an artery, it impairs the circulation to the involved part. In most parts of the body (the heart and brain are notable exceptions) the effect is slight because a collateral circulation takes over.

Q—I have had Buerger's disease since 1966. What causes it? I take Cyclospasmol but it doesn't help. Is there any new treatment for this disease?

A—Smoking is a causative factor. The disease occurs almost exclusively in men. Experience with cyclandelate (Cyclospasmol) has been disappointing. All victims of Buerger's disease should do the following exercises: While lying on a bed, elevate your legs on an inclined surface at about 45 degrees using an inverted chair for the support. Hold this position until your feet blanch completely (about 45 seconds), then sit up and swing your legs over the side of the bed and wiggle your toes and ankles vigorously until they are flushed (usually two or three minutes). Lie down and rest for six minutes. Repeat this cycle at least twice and run through these sessions three or four times a day.

Operation is advised when the obstruction is limited to one segment of an artery in the leg.

Correct Time, Please

For about a week now the clock on local Channel 9 of Hope Community TV, Inc., has been almost exactly 5 minutes fast. A correction is in order—and householders should stand by to reset their own clocks.

The correct time is never farther away than a shortwave radio or TV set. Every five minutes around the clock WWV, the official voice of Government Weights & Standards, broadcasts the time of day—usually at this season you pick it up from the Fort Collins (Colo.) transmitter at 1000 on the 10-mc shortwave band.

If this sounds too complicated here's a "quicky": Synchronize your time-piece with the "beep" announcing a TV program on the hour or half-hour. TV programs end several minutes before the hour or half-hour, to allow for closing commercials—but programs start precisely on the hour or half-hour.

Our generation is full of One-Worlders—with ambitious plans to unite all nations when scarcely a single nation is itself united. I am not a pessimist, but any conscientious reporter is honor-bound to report facts as they are—not as he might hope them to be.

What chance is there for world peace when two of the oldest neighborhood wars—in Northern Ireland and Asia Minor—are still raging hundreds of years after their beginning?

Both wars are of religious origin. In Northern Ireland (Ulster) the trouble stems from the enmity of radicals in both Catholic South Ireland and Protestant Ulster.

The same thread of religious differences can be found in Asia Minor, scene of the ancient Crusades of Christians against the Mohammedan Arabs—triggered in our time by the return of the Jews to Palestine, which Arabs regard as intrusion by an alien faith.

What chance for peace on grounds of bread-and-butter when men still fight and kill for the sake of their allegedly immortal souls?

Hawkins Brushes off Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sheriff Marlin Hawkins of Conway County said Monday that a taxpayer lawsuit against him "will be unable to prove" that he had not legally accounted for funds he handled as sheriff and collector for the years 1955-62.

Hawkins read a full-page statement at a news conference in Little Rock and refused to answer questions.

The Arkansas Supreme Court sent Monday the case involving Hawkins back to Conway Chancery Court for trial.

In remanding the case, the high court ruled that Chancery Court erred in ruling in a taxpayer suit that Hawkins could not be asked to account for funds he handled as sheriff since 1954.

The court rejected Hawkins' argument that the statute of limitations barred trial covering the funds he handled prior to 1953.

Stone Countian Dies in Wreck

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark. (AP)—Donald E. Passmore, 22, of Timbo (Stone County) was killed Monday night in a two-car accident three miles east of here on Arkansas 14.

Passmore's car sideswiped another vehicle, ran into a ditch and burned, police said.

Deaths in College Probed

By JAMES H. DOWNEY
Associated Press Writer
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A federal grand jury was empaneled today and told to consider possible outside influence in the violence that rocked Jackson State College last month and left two black youths dead.

The 23 member grand jury was selected in 58 minutes this morning. It is composed of 13 women and 10 men, five of them Negroes.

Judge William H. Cox of U.S. District Court swore in the jurors and said the federal government would ask the jury to consider the possibility that outside influences touched off violence on the campus of the Negro school.

"It is a violation to travel across state lines with the intent of inciting to riot," Cox told the grand jurors. "This district shall not provide sanctuary for militants, anarchists or revolutionaries of any race."

In his announcement of the federal probe earlier this month Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the grand jury would "make a complete investigation of all aspects surrounding the incident which occurred May 15 to determine whether or not any federal laws were violated."

Mitchell announced the probe after federal authorities complained they were unable to get Mississippi highway patrol cooperation in their investigation.

The disturbance, which started with the burning of a dump truck just off campus, ended when authorities opened fire in front of a dormitory at the predominantly black college.

Phillip Gibbs, a 20-year-old Jackson State junior, and James Earl Green, a 17-year-old high school senior, were killed. Nine other persons were wounded.

Gov. John Bell Williams said a state investigation showed officers fired only after being subjected to sniper fire.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard met with state officials several weeks ago in efforts to persuade the highway patrol to cooperate. He specifically wanted patrolmen at the scene to be interrogated and their weapons examined. Leonard said such cooperation was refused.

Shopping Trip Takes Something More Than Just a Pair of Shoes

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — A successful shopping trip takes more than a pair of comfortable shoes and unlimited funds. What you really need is the flexibility to want what you find, when you can't find what you want.

I always start my expeditions with a pocket full of cash, a heart full of hope and a head full of ideas on exactly what I want. By the time I've reached the finish line, I've got only the money. I've lost all hope of locating what I'm looking for.

If I find the perfect dress, it's the wrong size. If it's the right size, it's a color that even an eager saleslady can't bring herself to admire on me. If it's a becoming shade, it's not my style.

And if it's the right size, right color, right style and right price, just as I'm happily starting to pay for it I'm sure to find an irreparable rip in the skirt. With my new raincoat, though, I beat the odds.

I already had a couple of raincoats in bright colors that always seemed to clash with what I was wearing, so I was determined to get a good, old-fashioned raincoat-color raincoat. The sort of noncolor that would go with everything proved predictably elusive but at last I found THE coat—and it fit perfectly.

Then I noticed that one button, impossible to match, was off and two more barely hang-

Blackmun Role Looms Large as Supreme Court Takes Recess

By HARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Freshman Justice Harry A. Blackmun's pivotal role looms even larger as the Supreme Court begins a three-months summer recess today with many major legal problems unresolved.

Capital punishment, obscenity, the Vietnam war and the draft, and the pace of school integration are among the unsettled areas as the 1969-70 term ends.

Mum as the court is, the public is in the dark about what may be hanging the justices up. One safe guess, however, is that on some issues there is a 4-4 deadlock that only the new man can break.

For more than a year, the court has operated with eight justices, which leads to tie votes on many of the knotty problems the court must cope with.

Blackmun's assumption of the long-open seat could be the key to a highly active, and important, 1970-71 term.

The positions he will take are still mostly unknown. But he indicated Monday he will line up with his old friend Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, and with John M. Harlan, another conservative, on obscenity cases. In his first opinion, Blackmun dissented from the summary reversal of the convictions of two St. Paul booksellers.

This suggests that Blackmun, like Burger and Harlan, would allow more room for the states to set their own obscenity standards. See BLACKMUN ROLE

Crittenden Sheriff Is Suspended

MARION, Ark. (AP)—Sheriff Marion Thomas of Crittenden County, who has been charged with embezzlement of public funds, was suspended from office Monday.

Circuit Judge A. S. "Todd" Harrison of Blytheville said the end of a two-hour hearing that he had no alternative but to suspend the sheriff. Thomas pleaded innocent at the hearing.

The sheriff was charged Friday in connection with an alleged shortage reported by state auditors of $26,255.17 in the Crittenden County General Fund. Authorities have said the money has since been repaid.

Thomas was released on $15,000 bond after his arraignment before Harrison.

Thomas issued a statement to newsmen saying that "this is nothing more than a political vendetta engineered" by Deputy Prosecutor James C. Hale Jr. and several county political figures.

The sheriff identified them as James C. Hale Sr., who is chairman of the county Democratic Committee; state Reps. A. Jan Thomas of Clarkedale and

Nixon Final Report Due on Cambodia

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — With the last of 31,000 U.S. ground troops quitting Cambodia after two months of action, President Nixon has prepared what he calls a "final report" to the people on the conclusion. White House promised to make the lengthy document public today—the final day fixed by Nixon weeks ago for U.S. ground operations in Cambodia. The last American combat troops were officially reported to have left Cambodia Monday.

Questioned about a Monday news conference at which Cambodian Premier Lon Nol declared he would welcome the return of the Americans should his government's military situation deteriorate, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler reaffirmed administration statements that there is no intention to send U.S. troops into Cambodia again.

As for a Lon Nol statement that the United States had pledged continuing air support for Cambodian ground forces, Ziegler said again it was American policy to confine future air strikes in Cambodia to enemy troop and supply routes—strategic missions rather than the tactical sorties Lon Nol was talking about.

In a busy week of making foreign policy pronouncements, Nixon will appear live on major television-radio networks Wednesday night to answer an hour of questions on foreign affairs posed by three network representatives.

The broadcast, set for 10 p.m. EDT, originally was to originate at the Western White House here but in a change of plans Monday Nixon decided to go to a Los Angeles studio for the appearance.

Ziegler said the change of scene was designed solely to guard against any technical breakdown in transmission.

Murder Verdict Reversed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court, by a 4-3 decision, reversed today the first-degree murder conviction of Franklin David Bosnick Jr. Bosnick and his father had been convicted and given the death sentence for the fatal shooting of Deputy Sheriff Jesse J. Morgan during an attempted robbery of a grocery store-service station at Hughes on Dec. 24, 1968.

The Supreme Court reversed the elder Bosnick's conviction June 1. The reversal for the younger Bosnick was on grounds that Judge Elmo Taylor of St. Francis County Circuit Court erred by failing to instruct the trial jury on the lesser charge of second-degree murder.

Indians Get Big Judgment for Land

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — A federal financial settlement for millions of acres of land claimed by the Navajo Indians may help solve the tribe's unemployment problems.

The Indian Claims Commission ruled in Washington Monday that the tribe occupied a much wider area of Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado than was included in an 8 million-acre reservation when a treaty was signed in 1868.

The reservation now covers about 16 million acres.

In the boundary lines laid down Monday, the Navajos are credited with what one commission official said could be about 30 million acres—about the size of Ohio. The ruling means the Indians should have been compensated in 1868 for that acreage.

The Indians won't get the additional land which is lightly populated and suitable only for grazing. But they may get a considerable dollar settlement when details are worked out to compensate them on the basis of 1868 land values.

The tribe has valued the land at $1 an acre, but this would have to be decided by the Indian Claims Commission. Said Harold Mott, the tribe's general counsel:

"An appreciable part of the money will go for industrial development."

Tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai is concerned about the high unemployment—about 30,000 of 125,000 workers are unemployed. It costs money to attract industry, and that's where some of it will go.

Plants on the reservation now make camera and missile components, tennis shoes, prefabricated housing and electrical products.

In a related ruling Monday the commission gave the Hopis exclusive title to nearly 2 million acres also claimed by the Navajos. The Hopis' 2.45-million acre reservation is completely surrounded by the Navajo reservation.

Also involved are overlapping claims by half a dozen smaller tribes. Mott said that until these are taken into consideration, it won't be known exactly how much land the Navajos gained.

More Sun and Heat for State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Arkansas weather picture remains unchanged — sunny skies and warm temperatures.

Arkansas is on the western side of a high pressure system and, as a result, warm southerly winds from the gulf will continue to move across the state through Wednesday.

The temperatures climbed into the 90s across the state Monday, ranging from 90 at Harrison to 98 at Pine Bluff. Similar readings are expected through Wednesday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau is calling for a slight cooling trend Friday and Saturday with the chance of showers increasing slowly Thursday through Saturday.

Cambodian Venture Ends; Will Speed Up Exodus From Vietnam

Artillery Covers U.S. Evacuation

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes and artillery today pounded Cambodian border areas vacated by American ground troops as the last American advisers were pulling back into South Vietnam.

Military sources said some advisers were still with the South Vietnamese forces who are remaining in the neighboring country, but "all of the Americans will be out of Cambodia by midnight tonight."

The aircraft and artillery attacks were aimed at suspected supply dumps and base camps which American ground forces did not have time to explore before the June 30 deadline set by President Nixon for them to withdraw.

It was not clear whether the bombing and artillery would continue after midnight. The U.S. Command refused to discuss the possibility that big guns installed in a series of firebases along the border would be used in support of South Vietnamese troops operating in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese officials announced the withdrawal of some 5,000 of their troops, leaving 34,000 South Vietnamese troops still inside Cambodia. The Saigon government said the 5,000 troops were withdrawn after completion of two operations in which they killed 1,149 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and captured more than 1,800 weapons and 58 tons of munitions.

The U.S. Command reported the death of one American and the wounding of another in a Cobra helicopter gunship shot down over Cambodia Monday in the final hours of the withdrawal of U.S. combat troops.

Officials said this brought the total U.S. casualties in Cambodia to 338 killed and 1,529 wounded. It was the 36th helicopter lost in Cambodia, the command said.

U.S. officials also issued areport claiming that the "average daily results" in Cambodia from May 1 to June 23 in terms of enemy casualties and weapons and munitions seized was 10 times greater than the daily average in South Vietnam in the previous 12 months, while the cost in U.S. and South Vietnamese killed was about one twentieth.

It said 2½ times as many weapons and 15 times as much rice and ammunition were captured per day as in South Vietnam in the previous year.

Cambodia Ban Bill Is Fought

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces mounted a final assault on the Cooper-Church amendment today as the Senate wound up its eight-week debate on Cambodia.

They took their final stand behind two amendments—one by Assistant GOP Leader Robert P. Griffin, the other by Washington Democrat Henry M. Jackson—aimed at easing Cooper-Church's ban on future U.S. military activity in Cambodia.

After the Senate finished work on the Cambodia proposals, the schedule called for final action on the foreign military sales bill, which Cooper-Church amended.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., a leading administration spokesman, conceded before today's vote there was little point in trying for outright defeat of the amendment sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Dole said in an interview the amendment "apparently would pass. He said a big push for defeat might at best bring a close vote for passage that would 'be blown up into a big victory for them and a defeat for the administration.'"

Dole said Cooper-Church had been made more palatable by several amendments approved since debate began shortly after President Nixon announced April 30 that U.S. troops were being sent into Cambodia.

Republicans also succeeded in blocking passage of Cooper-Church until after the President finished removing all American troops from Cambodia Monday, one day before his promised deadline.

The end of the long debate coincided with Nixon's report on the Cambodian operation, which he said was intended to clean out enemy sanctuaries and speed withdrawal from Vietnam.

Griffin told the Senate Monday his amendment to permit U.S. support of foreign advisers in Cambodia "concerns the very heart of the Nixon doctrine."

Bid Due on Cummins Farm Bldgs.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bids will be opened July 6 on construction of two large buildings to house vocational technical training at Cummins Prison Farm.

Correction Commissioner C. Robert Sarver said the buildings would provide space for classrooms, offices and counseling.

The Cummins unit has no v-tech program in progress. Teaching will begin when the prefabricated metal buildings are available, Sarver said.

The chief program at Cummins will be farm machinery repair, he said. Leon Coker, administrator of Pines Vocational Technical School at Pine Bluff, has assisted in developing staffs for the prison programs.

The General Assembly appropriated $144,000 to finance basic v-tech facilities at the prisons. The Tucker Prison Farm facilities were contracted for about $67,000 and construction is under way. The Tucker unit has two programs in operation.
